THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

The Christian church will hold a banquet November 20, at Buren & Hamilton's.

Home laid eggs will be the only kind used in the making of cakes and bakery goods, as Oregon's famous Chinese egg law has been declared constitutional by a Portland judge. It remains for the supreme court of the state and possibly the supreme court of the United States to say whether the law is unconstitutional. The Chinese egg law passed by the 1915 legislature requires that dealers selling Chinese eggs, or using them in the making of any bakery goods, must display a sign stating this to be the case.

Four high class artists to be heard in the musical artists course for $5 and $4 the course. Single concert $2. No extra price charged for reserving seats.

The Oregon Electric will run a special train a week from today from Portland to Eugene for the O. A. G. Oregon football game to be played at Eugene, November 29. The special will leave Portland 8:15 o'clock in the morning, arrive in Salem 9:45, Albany 10:40, arriving in Eugene at noon. A special will be run from Salem at an earlier hour if the indications are such as to justify the special. If not, the Salem people will be taken care of on the Portland special. The return to Salem may be made on any of the regular trains, the last one leaving Eugene shortly after midnight, arriving in Salem 3:10 o'clock in the morning.

Salem musical artists course presents Galski, prima donna soprano; Fischer, violinist; world renowned pianist assisted by Madame Clara Gaborovitch, contralto, and De Gorriza, the noted concert baritone, in concert during the months of December, January and February. Reserved seats now selling at the music stores.

In the case of a death a few days ago, in which there was a life insurance, the notary making the affidavit of death had not filed his certificate with the county clerk, and the clerk when called upon to show that the notary had authority to take an affidavit, could not certify. The insurance agent was of the opinion that while there is no penalty attached if a notary does not file his certificate according to law, yet it might cause trouble if notaries were just a little more careful in having their certificates properly filed with the county clerk.

The musical artists course is now forming a list of patrons and patronesses among representative people of the city, including many prominent society ladies, leading musicians and educators. The list of names will be published later. Management—Minnetta Magors, Phone 1295.

Regarding the musical artists course, to be brought to this city during the winter through the efforts of Miss Minnetta Magors, a letter was received this morning by Miss Magors from one of the prominent teachers of the Oregon Normal school at Monmouth stating, "I hope you will not have to give up the course as it is a great thing for Salem and this vicinity to have them." The letter also states that at least 200 students from the normal school may be expected to attend the concert, as the subject had been taken up with the student body and this number had agreed to come. In addition to the students of the normal school, the writer was of the opinion that several auto parties would come for at least the first concert, and probably all.

Wednesday of this week L. G. Foyen of Portland, state agent for the Nord Deutsche Insurance company, H. E. Bolinger, local agent, was in Salem, settling with George Bros. the fire loss sustained Tuesday night on the White House restaurant. It was gratifying to George Bros. to receive a check in full for their loss in less than 16 hours after the fire and they are liberal in their praise for the Nord Deutsche company and the courtesy accorded by Mr. Foyen.

Miss Cynthia Maus, of St. Louis, will address the First Christian church Sunday school tomorrow morning. She is engaged in interdenominational work, and will leave this evening for Eugene.

The meat war may not be adding to the gaiety of nations, but the average housekeeper in the city seems to approve of the fight that is now going on between the various butcher shops.

While the housekeepers are accustomed to bargain counters in the dry goods line, a regular bargain counter with all sorts of choice pork chops and steaks displayed, right out in front, with prices in plain figures, is just a little out of the usual.

Caps and hats made, 75c. Hats on sale, $1.00. Furs remodeled. Get your order in one week in advance. 212 Hubbard building.

Assistant State School Superintendent Frank K. Willes returned to Salem today from Aumsville, where he attended the dedication of the new school building which was recently erected by the Aumsville district.

The teachers of the city public schools, and the principals of schools throughout the county were addressed this morning at the high school by Dr. H. D. Sheldon of the department of education of the Oregon university.

For those Sunday cigars try La Corona, Salem's best 16 cent cigar.

Realizing there are a number of Austrians and Italians living in the city, the Rev. James Elvin extends an invitation to them to attend his lecture Sunday evening at the First Congregational church when he will talk on "Austria and Italy."

May Fong Tye, best noodles in the city. Everything clean. Short orders. Fine noodles.

E. F. Carleton, assistant state school superintendent, will leave this city this afternoon for Black Rock, where he is scheduled to deliver an address at the exercises held in connection with the dedication of the new school house at Black Rock.

The White Swan Sunday dinners are the best in Salem for the money.

The ninth grade of the Grant junior high school entertained the football team of the school last evening at the home of Miss Clyde Gardner, who was assisted by Miss Alta Johnson. The evening was spent in music and games, followed by refreshments.

Dance tonight. Peerless Orchestra, Armory.

Plenty of turkey. Last Sunday the Gray Belle inaugurated a Sunday turkey dinner, serving between the hours of 5 and 7:30 p. m. The patronage accorded the first dinner so far exceeded expectations that the management was unable to supply the demand. Sufficient turkey for everybody has been provided for the dinner tomorrow so there will be no disappointments. Remember the hours, 5 to 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Bryngelson will do dressmaking at her home or go out by the day at $2 for the balance of the season. Phone 509-R, or call at 252 North Cottage.

A delightful time tonight at Armory dance. Peerless orchestra. 50 cents, ladies free.

The only measure coming before the voters at the election, December 6, is that of the proposed amendment to the city charter, to enable the city to foreclose assessment liens and to give valid title. This refers to property where the assessments have not been paid for three years. The method proposed in this measure is the same as provided by the state law for the foreclosure of tax liens. Amendments to the city charter require a majority vote.

Lawrence P. McGrath, of Chicago, Ill., will speak at the W. C. T. U. hall Sunday at 4 p. m.

The interdenominational rally held yesterday afternoon at the Jason Lee Methodist church, with an attendance of more than one hundred. The program included a paper by Mrs. F. T. Porter on "Our Recruits, Their Needs, Our Needs," and one by Mrs. E. L. Steeves on the subject of "Foes Within Our Camp." Miss Nellie Caschere read a paper on "Victories Already Won." The next rally will be held sometime next spring, probably in March.

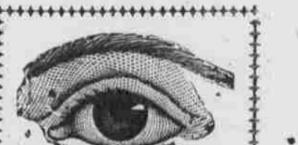

Good music, good floor, good time assured, armory dance tonight. Peerless orchestra.

The Elks are preparing for a big celebration, to be held at the Elk lodge in this city on the evening of Thursday, December 2. The committee in charge of the features of the evening already have several novel and entertaining ideas in preparation, one of which will feature the early days of '49 and sports known to the early settlers. The committee in charge of the specials for the evening include A. L. Wallace, William Patterson and Robin Day.

Every merchant in Salem should see the value of supporting any attraction that will bring into Salem 500 people from adjoining towns. This has been the record of the musical artists course.

The last day on which to register for the coming election is just one week from today. December 20 is the final day for registration, and the election will be Monday, December 6. Many voters have never registered, although when a voter once registers, it is not necessary to register again, as long as the residence remains the same. The full voting strength of the city is over 6,000, although at the present rate of registration, this number of citizens will not exercise their right at the coming election.
